

Reading and Writing the Orton-Gillingham Way: Perfect Together!

This same session will be offered two different dates
October 25, and November 3, 2016
9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time
Available in person and LIVE online (not recorded).

The process of writing is related to the process of reading: both involve constructing or composing meaning.

Participants will explore the structure of grammar and techniques for enhancing the writing of sentences, paragraph types, and the essay. The course will also introduce mapping and outlining strategies that students can utilize in the comprehension of fiction and non-fiction text. In addition, strategies for vocabulary development in the content areas will also be reviewed. Participants will be shown techniques for incorporating students' growing vocabulary into new reading and writing opportunities that match the common core requirements. Actual, hands-on strategies will be presented, and can be easily recreated into the elementary, middle school, and high school curriculum.

Presenter: David G. Katz
Fellow, Academy of Orton-Gillingham Practitioners and Educators

Syllabus and Registration
www.LearningAlly.org/OGread

Payment

Credit card or P.O.

Members: $79

Non-members: $89

Where

Online: take the workshop anywhere you have a computer and internet access or

In person: join us at 20 Roszel Road,
Princeton, NJ 08540

Questions, Registration and Payment

Contact Debbie at 609-243-5855 or

dByrne@LearningAlly.org

Learning Ally
TOGETHER IT'S POSSIBLE